A Few Words from the Baron and Baroness

Giving Thanks to All

As this missive is being written, two events are fast approaching: Thanksgiving and Solstice Court. Although Thanksgiving is not an integral part of our Society, Kingdom, and Barony, it is a part of all our lives. For us, it is also closely linked to Solstice. At Solstice Court we will celebrate the first anniversary of our opportunity to serve you, the fine people of Barony Loch Salann as your Baron and Baroness. As I am sure many of you know, our roles can be time-consuming, expensive and challenging. But all of you make our burdens so much lighter. Know that it is a joy to be your Baron and Baroness. The time you give, the service you do, the skills and thoughts you bring to this Barony makes our service easier. We are not Loch Salann. All of you are Loch Salann. And so, we give thanks to Loch Salann.

By the time you read this, Solstice Court will be upon us. We do hope that you can join us. Our Event Steward has planned a fine day of music, dance, games and other delights. Our Feast Steward is preparing a meal of fine Persian cuisine that is sure to satisfy the palate. It is also our understanding that Their Majesties have plans for one of our artisans (a particularly fine cook, we do believe). Please spend the day with us.

Soon after Yule, we will be traveling north to witness the investiture of the new Baron and Baroness of Gryphon's Lair (a Barony we hold as true, everlasting friends). Don Aaron and Lady Elizabeth are dear friends not only of us personally, but to the Barony of Loch Salann as well. Many years did these two fine Gentles offer service to us. We hope you can be present to see them embark on this new adventure.

But even with these celebrations of joy, darkness has come to us. Our worst fears have been realized and once again war rages to the south. Know all, that your Baron and Baroness are aware that this year's harvest was meager. Many of you struggle to maintain hearth and home. There is little left to allow for distant campaigning. Know then that we shall not call for a muster. We ask only that those who are able, join us in the south. We realize that we must answer to Their Majesties for this decision. The weight of the Coronet is sometimes heavy.

May the Yuletide give you peace and joy,

Your Servants

*Ryryd
Baron*

*Anna
Baroness*

Greetings From the Seneschal:

Unto the Populace of the ancient and glorious Barony of Loch Salann here are the words of your Seneschal, Greetings.

Fighter practice continues at Mount Jordan Middle School, on 90th South and 3rd East. In addition a belly dancing / drumming group has started up at the same location but in a different area of the school, come on out and join the fun. Our Baron has issued an archery challenge to the remainder of the kingdom for the winter months to hopefully inspire other groups to continue with their practice during the winter months. At this point only the Barony of Sentinels Keep has accepted the challenge.

Our only scheduled event for the remainder of the year is Solstice Court in December. Our autocrat for the event, Zafirah Tahreer Bint Al Riyah, has arranged for a full day of activities and a sumptuous feast. Look for the event announcement later in the Quill. This promises to be the highlight of our year so please make every effort of attend.

Yours in Service to the Barony of Loch Salann, Bjorn Hrafnson

Award Announcements

At Kingdom Arts and Science Collegium:

Lady Hildegardis Filia Vulframni was sent On vigil to contemplate admittance to the order of the Laurel at Solstice Court.

Congratulations on your delicious demonstrations of artistic prowess and culinary skill, Vivat!

We all know you will make the right decision!

Greetings from the MoAS:

It's almost here! Solstice is in just two weeks, as I write this message. Please, please let me know what you are bringing to share in the way of heraldic items. This could be banners, dishes, chairs, The main idea is to share the means by which we are recognized: our device or arms. My device (not yet approved) uses the dragonfly. Hopefully this will be approved and become my arms, but in the meantime friends (and foes) recognize my pavillion by the dragonfly flying outside on my banner.

For Solstice Court, you may bring either, but please try to let us know so we can do justice to your art. HE Ryrd will bring a suit of armor with his arms. Mistress Leah and Sir Robert will have several examples, and Lord Bjorn and I will have a couple of examples on benches, dishes, etc. I know there are wonderful examples out there. Please share.

The point is: We need you to show us, tell us, and be an inspiration to the populace. Please inform me at janet@altamistalpacas.com of your intended items for display so that we can prepare appropriate ways to display them.

Collegium was held in the Barony of Arn Hold and was a joy for everyone. I was able to squeeze in five classes and the teachers were wonderful. We have a wealth of talent and people who love to share their interests, patiently, with one and all. HE Braden and his crew did a masterful job and the Arts and Sciences were celebrated in royal style.

Our A & S Night on November 20th was mainly discussion and preparation in order to have an interesting display for Solstice.

Please also note that there will be no meeting in December. Mistress Constance has agreed to share with us. At Collegium, she taught the youth how to make origami items for keeping secrets. Now we can find out how to unlock those secrets. Look for information in the January Quill.

Bardic night is scheduled for the first Sunday of the month and is hosted by Lady Amanda de Spencer at her home. Parking on 10600 is not legal - nor safe, so please pull along side the house on Blossom Drive. Sunday was chosen so that everyone would have an opportunity to participate, as there are no other guilds or practices scheduled for that day of the week.

The Needleworkers' Guild will meet the 1st Tuesday of the month, which is December 1st. Please contact Lady Aurora de Portugal or THL Bethoc for more information. You can often see HE Anna, THL Bethoc, Lady Oonaugh, and Lady Aurora conferring over projects at Fighter Practice.

The Cooks' Guild meets on the 4th Tuesday of the month. Because this falls so close to Thanksgiving, they postponed the meeting till December 1st. Traditional Holiday Feast Food will be enjoyed at the home of Mistress Constance de la Rose.

The Loch Salann Musician's Guild provides wonderful music for our events. They will be providing music for background and for the dancing at Solstice Court using instruments and music used in the Middle Ages. Meetings are conducted Thursdays from 7:15 to 9:00 p.m. Please contact Mistress Anne (801-466-7300) for the location of the meeting and any additional information.

The next Brewers Guild meeting will be announced on line, so be on the lookout. Lord Finlay has done a great job in infusing new life into the group.

The newest Guild, Dancing and Drumming Guild, is led by Lady Zafirah Tahreer Bint Al Riyah. Look for the announcements from Lady Zafirah.

As I endeavor to serve you, please let me know of any other guilds or groups holding meetings. Also, if you have talents to share, please let me know as we set up the programs for the New Year. I am relying on each of you to support, assist, and inspire me. What would you like to learn?

Yours in Service,

How do I get started ... Learning how to "blazon":

A look at Heraldry in the Current Middle Ages

Selected definitions from:

GLOSSARY OF TERMS As Used By The College of Arms of the Society for Creative Anachronism, Inc.

Arms - In the SCA, people who have been awarded arms by the Crown of a kingdom may call their heraldic device "arms." The distinction between arms and a device is not tracked by the College of Arms.

Badge - A piece of armory used by an individual or group to identify possessions, retainers, members, or other items. A badge is different from a device, which is used solely by its owner (or the owner's herald).

Blazon - The verbal or written description of a piece of armory.

Charge - An item placed on a piece of armory. A charge may be directly on the field, overall, or entirely on another charge. A charge may be a simple geometric figure, such as a fess or a roundel, or a representation of an animate or inanimate item, such as a lion or a sword.

Color - In Society heraldry, the colors are azure, gules, sable, purpure and vert. The furs that use colors as underlying tinctures, such as counter-ermine and pean, are treated like colors for contrast. See also Metal, Tincture.

Device - A heraldic design that uniquely represents the person or group that owns it. A person who has not been awarded arms may register personal armory as a device. This device will become arms when the person receives an award, grant, or patent of arms. The distinction between arms and a device is not tracked by the College of Arms.

Herald - When used with a capital H, Herald is a title referring to a person at a particular level in the College of Arms. Used with a small h, a herald is a person who works regularly on some aspect of heraldry.

Metal - In Society heraldry, the metals are argent and Or. Furs that use metals as underlying tinctures, such as ermine and ermineois, are treated as metals for contrast.

Partition - A division of the field into pieces that have different tinctures. Some partitions follow and are named after ordinaries, like per pale, per fess, per bend, and per saltire; others have their own names, like checky, lozengy, and quarterly.

Proper - (1) Specifying that a charge appears in its natural hues. A zebra proper has the zebra's characteristic pattern of black and white stripes; a tree proper has a brown trunk and green leaves. Proper should not be used to indicate colorings that can be easily described in terms of the usual heraldic tinctures: a raven proper is better blazoned as a raven sable. It should also be used only if a competent artist will be able to draw the animal correctly without extensive research. (2) Indicates a standard set of tinctures for a standard heraldic charge, such as a sword proper, which has an argent blade and Or hilt and quillons, or a rose proper, which is a rose gules, barbed vert and seeded Or. See Table 3, Conventional Proper Colorings for a listing of proper tinctures defined in precedent.

Tincture - One of the seven standard hues used in Society armory, or a fur. The tinctures are the colors azure, gules, purpure, sable, and vert and the metals argent and Or. Furs include the ermined furs and vair, potent, scaly, papelony, and their variations.

Reserved Charges

Some charges are specifically reserved in the Society for use by particular groups or individuals, for instance the coronet with strawberry leaves reserved to Dukes and Duchesses, the circle of chain reserved to Knights, or the Laurel wreath reserved to Society branches.

Name	Reserved for
Baldric, White	Masters of Arms
Belt, White	Knights
Chapeau	Order of the Pelican

Charged canton	Augmentation
Multiply charged single inescutcheon	Augmentation or arms of pretense

Laurel wreath	Society branch arms
Orle or annulet of chain	Knights
Pelican in its piety	Order of the Pelican

Restricted Charges

Some charges are so closely associated with royal families or specific honors outside the Society that they may not be used in Society armory at all. Examples of these include Azure semy-de-lys Or used by France, a Chinese Dragon with five toes used only by Chinese Emperors, or a Tudor Rose. Others have acquired such negative connotations that their registration may cause offense to a significant portion of the population.

January 9, 2010

As the days slowly start to lengthen and we bid farewell to the holiday season, please join us in one last celebration of winter. As our honorable Baron Sir Math and his beautiful and wise consort Baroness Mistress Daria have decided that the time has come to pass on the Coronets of Gryphon's Lair, we will wish them safe journeys, then turn our attention to welcoming our third Baron and Baroness, Don Aaron and Lady Elizabeth, who have come to save our barony from the Viking reign of terror.

A late period feast will be prepared by Lady Fiametta in the style of King Henry VIII's yule feast. We will also be trying something new at this event for the children. We will be holding a Feast for Children. Children will learn feast etiquette from table setting to table protocol.

Site fee will include a soup and bread lunch buffet from 11:00 to 1:30.

A new A&S champion shall be chosen at this event based on both the recommendations from the outgoing Baron and Baroness and the observations of the upcoming Baron and Baroness. To this end there will be an A&S display. It is asked that each entrant provide minimal documentation for the entry, and all entries shall be welcome.

The time has come to brush up on your Italian Renaissance dances as Lady Maysun will be hosting a Ball in honor of our new Baron and Baroness.

Merchants will be welcome with a donation to the Baronial Largess.

KID'S KORNER

Life size Goose Game

Supplies: 63 sheets of card stock (some in heraldic colors) the rest can be white.

- 1 pair of very large dice
- tape (masking tape works best)
- basket of prizes (optional)

Start with 63 sheets of card stock (normal 8 1/2 by 11 pages) - each sheet of card stock is a numbered 'square'.

Make the goose pages:

Find a picture of a goose, enlarge and print the goose onto 13 sheets of the card stock. Also add the number for these 'pages'.

Squares five (5), nine (9), fourteen (14), eighteen (18), twenty-three (23), twenty-seven (27), thirty-two (32), thirty-six (36), forty-one (41), forty-five (45), fifty (50), fifty-four (54) and fifty-nine (59) have a goose on them.

Make the 'hazard' pages:

Find pictures that would correspond to the 'hazards' (bridge, maze, tavern, well, prison, death) enlarge and print them on the corresponding page, along with their number.

Square six (6) is The Bridge and the player immediately advances to square twelve (12). Square forty-two (42) is The Maze and the player is sent back to square thirty (30). Square nineteen (19) is The Tavern and the player loses two turns.

Square thirty-one (31) is The Well. A player landing there must remain until another player lands on that square. The second player then remains there while the first player returns to the square the second player started that turn from.

Square fifty-two (52) is The Prison which is played exactly the same as The Well.

Square fifty-eight (58) is Death and the player starts over.

The rest of the squares:

On the rest of the pages, just print an enlarged number.

I added a few more 'learning' squares along the way.. example, we were teaching the colors of heraldry, so every so often I would have one of the colors as one of the numbered pages, and the child would say (in heraldic terms) what that color was if they landed on it. For the younger kids, the name of the color was also printed on those pages. (My pages were 'laminated' with plastic to make them last longer, but that is not mandatory.)

Tape the squares to the floor in numeric order, use a tape that is easy to get off (recommend masking tape - don't use duct tape on a hardwood floor, your site owners will be very unhappy with you). Put enough space between the squares so that the kids can maneuver without running into each other. (recommend a few inches to a foot between them). We used a 'snaking' layout versus a circle as it was easier to manage in the amount of space we had. At the end of the game, I had a basket full of 'bagged' prizes, each child that made it through to the end of the game got to pick a bag.

With the kids as the 'playing pieces', play the game following standard instructions for goose.

<http://www.recoveredsience.com/gooserules.htm>

This game is a blast for young and old alike.
