Casamira's Corner

The Pun is Mightier Than the Sword!

A squire went to an ale house for dinner the other night, but something was out of the ordinary. In the middle of the floor was an open area where the tables and chairs had been removed, and there were two hooks attached to the ceiling. Hanging from one hook was a large T-bone, and on the other hook was a twelve-ounce sirloin. I asked the waitress what this was about. "We're having a contest tonight. You stand under the hooks, jump straight up and try to grab the meat. If you make it, you get your dinner for free. If you don't, you have to pay double. Whaddaya say, you wanna give it a try?" The squire pondered this a moment before he replied, "No way! steaks are too high."

Message from the Baron and Baroness

Unto the populace of the Ancient and Glorious Barony of Loch Salann, we do send greetings

As summer comes to a close and the chill weather begins to appear, most of the camping events are at an end, however we still have our Crown Tournament to look forward to. The list for the tournament is imposing and it is sure to provide a great deal of challenges for the participants and even more enjoyment for the spectators. Just a few short miles to the north, we hope as many of the populace as can find a way will plan to attend.

It was a full month of events, starting off with the Coronation of our new King and Queen, Sir Robert le Raven MacLeod and his inspiration Sajah al ish Shirazyyah. We welcome them to the thrones of Artemisia and wish them a long and successful reign. The wide range of activities made for a full day and we had a wonderful time. Although hampered somewhat by inclement weather it was a great event followed by a sumptuous feast.

Shortly thereafter, Harvest War was held in the mountains, on the eastern edge of the Barony of Gryphon's Lair. Once again Mother Nature blessed us with a refreshing little rain, but it did not dampen the spirits of those attending.

Our final outdoor event for the year, Lochtoberfest, was next on our list. This year the event was held in the mountains on the eastern edge of the Barony. We had a little wind, but all of the activities that were planned went on with good participation. The Best of the Wurst and Brewmeister competitions were hotly contested with nearly double the entries from years past. The highlight of the day for us was the nail pounding competition held during the marvelous feast prepared by Dame Hilde.

Please join us this weekend to see who will prevail as our next Heirs to the thrones of Artemisia, at Crown Tournament, just a few miles to the north. As always travel safe and dress for the season.

Bjorn Hrafnsson and Jennet Moir de Brechin
Baron and Baroness of Loch-Salann
